Eco-labelling And International Trade

Simonetta Zarrilli Conference on Trade and Development

Eco-labelling is a process used to inform the consumer of the environmental. The power of eco-labels: Communicating climate change using carbon footprint labels consistent with international trade regimes under the WTO. Article type: